Mrs. Annmah Morgan was adjudged of unsound mind Monday and was ordered to be sent to the Central Kentucky Asylum.

Music at the M. & F.

The Columbia M. & F. High School has never had a more earnest and efficient teacher than its present director of music, Mr. C. Frederic Ohlenmeyer. Under his direction this department has flourished as never before in the history of the school. The third piano, a new Kurtzman, will be placed in the school this week.

The residence of Rev. W. C. Clemens in the Tutt addition is nearing completion. This is one of the handsomest additions in that end and is a monument to the builders, McLean Bros. The plan was drawn by Mrs. Clemens and it is a model of beauty and convenience.

Art Notes.

During the past year between two and three thousand young women were studying in the seven large New York Art schools to become professional artists. This number does not include the many private classes of miniature painting, portrait painting, china painting, etc.

This is New York alone, how many are in Boston, Philadelphia, New Orleans, San Francisco, and all our large cities, from ocean to ocean, and from Canada to the Gulf? Nearly as many men as women are at work in these art schools, and in the night drawing classes. All the city school children have drawing lessons.

Why is there so little interest manifested in drawing in Columbia? Will every reader of these notes try to answer the question.

Lost

On Campbellsville pike, gold handled knife. Finder will receive reward by returning to Paul Azbill, Columbia.

The weather man in Louisville says we may expect a drop in the thermometer to freezing by Thanksgiving. Get ready to stay porkers.

Mr. W. E. Bradshaw exhibited two lemons at this office Monday afternoon, the largest we have seen this season. They were grown by Mrs. Bettie Butler and weighed 35 ounces.

Columbia Chapter, R. A. M., meets Thursday evening to confer the minor degrees, and Friday evening to confer the Royal Arch Degree. The meetings will be at 7 p. m. All Companions are requested to be present.

Shortland.

Students desiring a course in shortland, should not fail to investigate the course given by the Columbia M. & F. High School. Mr. Flowers, who has charge of this department, is not only a stenographer of experience, but holds the highest grades in the "Dictionary Class"—the most advanced class in the course given by the Bowling Green Business College—ever made by a student in that well known institution of learning. In addition to the Shortland Course, will be given a course in Business Correspondence, to which class will be admitted, without cost, students in all departments of the school. Mr. Flowers is delighted with the progress made by his class this fall.

To Confer Third Degree.

Grand Master James Garnett, of the Grand Lodge of Masons of Kentucky, will confer the third degree in Daylight Lodge at Masonic Temple Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

There will be a full attendance of members of the Grand Lodge, and many visitors are expected from other lodges.

This will be the Grand Master's first visit to Louisville since he was elected, and he will be royally entertained by Daylight Lodge.—Evening Post, Nov. 27.

Boarding.

No school in Southern Kentucky offers better boarding facilities than the Columbia M. & F. High School. The New Boarding Home for young ladies is in charge of Mrs. E. W. Shirley, a lady of superior qualifications for work of this kind. The rooms in this building are larger than those usually found in school dormitories and the building as a whole, is said by architects to be beyond criticism. It is only fair to add that the plan is the work of Mrs. W. C. Clemens, wife of the principal of the school. The other building, which will be occupied by young men, is a two story residence with nice, comfortable rooms. Mr. Flowers, Secretary of the school, will occupy a room in this building and there is no doubt but that good order will be maintained. Both homes are located on the college campus, convenient to the school.

Lively Day.

Last Wednesday was one of the liveliest days in the sale of horses and mules, that has been witnessed in Columbia for many months. Lazarus and Aulcher of Horse Cave, were advertised to be here on that day and as a result the square and streets were full of the long-eared hy-breds interspersed with some fairly proud stepping horses. They were here from Green, Cumberland and Russell counties as well as from nearly every section of Adair. Besides two representatives of the above firm of buyers, J. R. Sanders, of Campbellsville, and W. J. O'Daniel, of Lebanon, were on the grounds, and bidding was on the lively order, and the result is that full $6000.00 was left with the long-eared hy-breds interspersed with some fairly proud stepping horses. ### Resolutions of Respect.

Upon the death of Brother W. W. Bingham, of Gradyville, Lodge No. 251, Gradyville, Ky. Whereas,

It has pleased the Supreme Grand Master of the Universe to call from our midst to the Grand Lodge on high, our lamented and esteemed friend, Bro. W. W. Bingham; and

Whereas, By his sterling qualities he won our appreciation, kindred affection and regards, therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Bro. W. W. Bingham, his Lodge has lost a noble, faithful and worthy member and brother and his wife a devoted, kind and loving husband.

Resolved, That this Lodge extend to the bereaved widow and children, its most profound sympathy in this hour of irreparable loss, and may God ever watch over and protect them.

Resolved, That a memorial page be set apart upon the records of this Lodge and that these resolutions be spread thereon, a copy be sent to his family, and that they be published in the Adair County News and the Columbia Spectator.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION!

President Roosevelt has Issued His Proclamation, Naming Thursday, November 30th, the Day for Thanksgiving.

THE PEOPLE URGED TO CONSECRATE THEMSELVES TO CORRECT LIVING

When nearly three centuries ago the first settlers came to the country which has now become this great republic, they fronted, not only hardships and privations, but terrible risk to their lives. In those grim days the custom grew to set apart a day in each year for special thanksgiving to Almighty for preserving the people through the changing seasons.

The custom has now become national and hallowed by immemorial usage. We live in easier and more plentiful times than our forefathers—men who with rugged strength, faced the rugged days; and yet the dangers to the national life are quite as great now as at any previous time in our history. It is eminently fitting that once a year our people should set apart a day for praise and thanksgiving to the Giver of all good, and at the same time that they express their thankfulness for the abundant mercies received and should manfully acknowledge their shortcomings and pledge themselves solemnly, and in good faith to strive to overcome them.

During the past year we have been blessed with bountiful crops. Our business prosperity has never stood on as high a level of material well being as ours now stands.

We are not threatened by foes from without. The foes from whom we should pray to be delivered are our own passions, appetites and follies and against these there is always need that we should war.

Therefore, I now set apart Thursday, November 30th, as a day of thanksgiving for the past and of prayer for the future, and on that day I ask through out the land, that the people gather in their homes and places of worship, and in rendering thanks unto the Most High for the manifold blessings of the past year, consecrate themselves to a life of cleanliness honor and wisdom, so that this nation may do its allotted work on the earth in a manner worthy those who founded it and those who preserve it.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Political Rescue.

BY FARAWAY MOSES.

We were all seated in the cobbler's shop one rainy morning, some playing checkers and the rest of us arguing politics and the possibilities of scientific discoveries, when Mrs. Colonel Oyster came flouncing in out of the rain-soaked atmosphere and began to shake herself like a big shaggy dog.

"Dot was soom bat wetter fur awmans to be oud, Meeses Oyster. Der atmospheric phenomena was full of aqufortis and humility, accordingly, and was bad wetter for rheumatiz
and asthmatical physics."

"A poor widow that has nothing but her pension to depend on for her living must be up and doing in all sorts of weather, Mr.
Dunkleheimer. I'm selling books gentle, she continued, as she gave the room a sweeping glance and took us all in before she accepted the chair shoved before her by Joel Jiggerbob."

"So!" ejaculated the cobbler, as he held the hammer aloft and watched the widow open her bag and produce several prospectus books and lay them on her abundance of lap. "Got soom bilious-strated Bibles and coogk books mit hog cholera cures in solution?"

She gave the cobbler a withering look and closed him up as tight as a tin can full of tomatoes, and then began to read from the prospectus for the benefit of the crowd: "History of the Russia-Japan war. Tells all about those magnificent naval battles and bloody contests on land. Portraits of all the important officers on both sides, including full page portraits of the Czar and the Mikado—"

"I don't want no Czar in my shop!" broke in the cobbler.
"Any men dot iss opposition to human liberties was a tyrants. I should prefer to crack him on der heat vociferously mit my shoe hammer! Down mit kings!
To hail Colombia mit their divine rights to rule! Dot idee belongs to der dark ages, when common peoples hat no more etuation ass monkeys, and der rich hat eo more morals ass a mormon elder mit sixteen wives and a new reflation in his trunk accordingly."

"Well if you wish to purchase a war book, may be a love story will suit some of you gentlemen," she suggested, as she opened a new prospectus on her massive lap and read: "Sugar of Love: a Tale of Love and War and Intrigue. A romance of the great rebellion."

"So!" ejaculated the cobbler.
"Und them bin keeping dot lofe in shoogar, or only soft A? Eh?
Meppy she was brown mulatto shoogar—eh?"

"Oh shut your trap, Duchman.
This is the best book published in the world since Dickens wrote David Copperfield. I sold 10 copies yesterday over in Goose Creek district. Even old Jasper Winditt bought a copy of this great love story and will spend the Winter reading the love adventures of the beautiful Creole daughter of a Louisiana sugar planter. Just think of a man 79 years old reading a love story—"

"While hiss wife was tookin in washing und house cleaning!" interrupted the cobbler. I knows dot old men. He was a fool, mit a prefix called 'damm' in front of his name. However, he was a widower, and der wimmings look like angels to him, consequently, mently. A old married men like us fellers has our accumulations of shoogared lofe, und we was sanctified. We kin sing mit

Jonah, dot time he went fishing.

"Trap der anchor, furl der sail,
I was safe witten der whale!"

"Oh, such old brutes as you never have my sentiment my sentiment about their make-up," snapped the widow. "You dumb Dutch marry a wife the same as you buy a horse or a cow or a dog—simply for profit. You couldn't distinguish the difference between love sentiment and an epileptic fit. If you would buy this book and read it carefully you might yet learn something."

"Madam, I don't want your boogk. I proposition to write one myself. Und she will not be some leedle plaything, like most of dem boogks der peoples was reading to kill time."

"Oh, I presume it will be a great work on philosophy, or astronomy, or geology, or ethnology, or psychology, or—"

"No, madam; she will be a work on fools, for fools, and by soom old fools who keeps a cobbler shop where all der fools for miles around congregates mit vociferous promptitude to discuss-dem subjects dot was forbidden by dem shrewd politicians and shkinflints dot was haffing a soft shnapss mit conditions ass iss.
She will be a reform book, mit common sense spread all offer her like New Orleans molasses shpread over soom buckwheat cakes fur breakfast."

"Got any of it written down
yet?" inquired Professor Dadd.
"You was a happy tooting I has.
I has already bin working mit specific energy at dot boogk of mazillary maxims—literary sas-sages cut up into mount fulls, so's a men kin chew dem at his daily occupation mit vituperative casiness, accordingly. One chapter iss promulgated to der subject of lofe. Let me quotation from memorandum:

"Love is not lofelessness. She begins mit hand squeezing und goo-goo eyes und osculating und ice cream, but she runs oud of smood water und easy sailing purty soon und hits der rough sea of Wood-shplitting und baby squalls und paragoric bottles und der wisable bottom of der flour barrel, accordingly."

"Lofe stories are lies, written by wroters who wroot rot, und idle peoples play mit diss lovely rot der same ass childrens play mit broomsticks und make believing she was a horse. Soom peoples read lofe shories because dem didn't had sufficient lofe in der oyster soup of life, und was filling fut der mental
barrel, accordingly."

"Soom old maids read lofe shories because it makes dem feel goot to see odder peoples git shqueezed. It comes next to git-ting shqueezed demselves, und gifts dem lots of chances to hide their blushes."

"You're a fool!" snapped Mrs.
Oyster, as she began to nervously leaf over her prospectus.

"You bet! I has a chapter on fools. Let me quotation: A fool iss de feller dot sthicks his ignoramus into bolitics und then loogs fur der hole after der corporation attorney was elected to office. He iss der man dot was sure his party was always right, und was believing sh'till dot Supreme judges has got a big sthick to make dem trustful corporations sthand around mit conglomerated compacency. He reads lofe stories to kill time, when he hasn't efen got a fat hog to kill when butcherin time cooms around mit pork saggages. He was der man dot sthands on der shreet corner und brags to der boys about dot flag dot brings freedom to der poor mens dot has no land on which to pay taxation, und at der same opportunity he has got no shirts at home to make soom exchanges when wash day was trumps in der game of life."

"How about those maxims you were speaking of? Have you written a chapter on maxims?"
inquired Professor Dadd.

"You was a happy tooting I has! I has been 10 yare picking out smard sayings und leedle tidbits of wisdom, like dhis, fur instink:

"Gooferment war fur der beoples who did der gooferneering, by der beoples who was trinking gooferment pap, und der beoples dot was sucking on to soom gooferment job with vocif-erous loyalty, like cement patches to soom coon shkin shoes."

"Also: 'Handsaus do not grow on axletrees. Beer keggs do not grow into hogheads, but der contents dooze. Der wimmings will dot find anydings she tinkss was right, efen if she doozn't believe it was so, und hadn't otter did it." (Took der Mormon wimmings, fur instink, who marry a deacon mit a dootzen wives, when dem knows he doozn't haf enough lofe for one)."

"Also, mit likewise similitude:
'Ag reat man's patriotism was likea boil or a cowbunkle—its force was concentrating around dot place where der corruption accumulations was seeking soom holes to leae oud according to the laws of gravitation."

"Und soom more again anod-der time: 'Dot was a mistookin idee about der wheels of our gooferment needing so mooch greasing. Der wheels was all in der heads of our shatesmen, und it was soom impossibilities to git at dem mit der oil can. How-efer, der was soom leetle touch eoles in their pockets dot kin be greased with extraordinary amplitude, und der wheels can suck soom oop by absorption, accordingly."

"Likewise: 'Dot men who iss willingss to die fur his country, iss not willingss to his taxation.
soomtimes he was a bluffer, like dot men who says he kin willingly die to save his wife's character, rather than go to court und haf der jury declare she didn't got any—"

Hold on, Meeses Oyster.
Don't gone off mit such subterraneous ratification. I shall need soom agents to sell my boogk when she is pooblished. She will be sold by prescription, und I will need a whole lot of old wimmings to go around und bore der people mit solicitations. To be course, nobodies will wants to buy my book, cause she will be full of goot, common sense und political wisdom, und dot will be too shtrong fut der mental aberation, accordingly."

"What der peoples wants iss lofe shories, soft und easy sich ass 'Shoogar of Lofe,' und Ashes of Lofe, und 'Country Semoked Lofe,' und 'Pickled Lofe,' und 'Canned Lofe,' und 'Sour Crout und Lofe.' Goot Gott, der peoples was only playing soom literary farce comedy! Playing leetle girls in their mudder's dresses—riding broom sthicks und calling dem shackasses—say Meeses Oyster, coom back und bore us soom more."

Saved By Dynamite.

Sometimes a flaming city is saved by dynamiting a space that the fire can't cross. Sometimes, a cough hangs on so long, you feel as if nothing but dynamite would cure it. Z. T. Gray, of Caldwell, Ga., writes: "My wife had a very aggravated cough, which kept her awake nights. Two physicians could not help her; so she took Dr.
King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which eased her cough, gave her sleep, and finally cured her." Strictly scientific cure for bronchitis and lagrippe. At T. E.
Paull's drug store, price 50c and $1.00; guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

Democratic newspaper devoted to the interests of the city of Columbia and the people of Adair and adjacent counties.

Entered at the Columbia Postoffice as second-class mail matter.

WED. NOV. 29, 1905.

The Louisville Post is still singing the same old song of fraud and intimidation. In the broad realm of the universe, in the unlimited space above and in all the acts of mankind, the Post seems to see no good, but the procession moves on and Louisville continues to grow.

Sane, sound and sensible, the Louisville Herald quits the contest in that city, on the ground that it is now a matter of the courts and the decision of the courts will be final and must be accepted. It makes its exit as follows: "The whole matter is now up to the courts. Their decision will be final and must be respected. The Herald's space is too valuable and its health too precious to be wasted now in war whoops as to what happened in any or in all of the precincts.

Hon. David H. Smith, present congressman from the fourth, has reconsidered his statement made a year ago and will again be candidate to succeed himself. Congressman Smith had stood in with his constituency to a remarkable degree up to that time, but it so happened that he failed to measure up to the desires of many Democrats in the last State Convention. It appeared to us, at that time, that his position then foreshadowed defeat for another term, but time heals many wounds, as well as removes the dark shadows that shut out a clear vision of the future. We presume it is even so in this case or else Mr. Smith is laboring under a mistake.

The entering of Mr. W. B. Holdeman in the Senatorial race came as a surprise to many country Democrats and will probably complicate matters. At any rate Mr. Holdeman is a Democrat well fitted for this responsible position, and should he win, Kentucky's prestige will not be reduced. The fight between Senator Blackburn and Judge Poynter, has grown intensely warm and in fact is not doing the party nor the State any good, and just at this juncture a strong able man as Mr. Holdeman may walk off with the plum. In this community Democrats are not to be reckoned as their representation is shut out by a large Republican majority, yet they have their choice and love their party. Mr. Holdeman is a newspaper man, editor of the Times, which has fought many good battles for Democracy and is stronger for toward the new entry, and presume there are many who would like to see the Blackburn-Poynter trouble compromised.

LOCAL NEWS.

On Sunday, the 16th, Mrs. Amelia Haskins died at the home of her son, Mr. J. O. Haskins, Bowling Green. Some several days, near two weeks, prior to her death, she was severely burned by her clothes catching from a grate and death was due to the burns and o 4 age. She had reached the ripe old age of 82 and was visiting her son at the time of her death. She was a member of the Baptist Church and a good Christian lady whose mission in this world was nobly and well filled, and her life was lengthened far beyond the average. Four children survive, Mr. Creed Haskins, of Campbellsburg, Mr. J. O. Haskins, of Bowling Green, Mr. Robt. Haskins, of Lebanon, and Mrs. Stackschouse, of Lexington. The body was conveyed to Camp Knox and interred in the old family burying ground beside loved ones gone before. The loss of a mother can never be replaced.

A few days after the election Mr. F. P. Donnelly was in to see us and requested that Milltown be allowed to notify the Democrats that in the next fight let it be known just what would be needed and the majority could be secured. Truly the Democrats are to be commended for their faithful, persistent effective fight at Milltown. They know how and they do it.

Notice.

All parties having claims and demands against the estate of J. P. Miller, should present same for payment, properly proven as the law directs, on or before Jan. 1, 1906.

N. B. MILLER, Executor.

3-1m Springfield, Mo.
The public sale of M. J. Murrell drew a large crowd, last Saturday, but on the average prices for nearly everything sold, was low. Col. L. B. Hurt was the auctioneer and performed his duty to perfection, but draggy bidding could not be prevented nor better prices secured. The sale consisted mostly of farm implements, etc., and but little stock was sold. Five head of cattle and one two year-old cow covering the lot. Several stacks of hay went at $10.00 per stack. One lot of corn went at $1.50 per barrel, and no more was sold owing to the tendency toward lower prices.

The announcement heretofore made that the Columbia Band would give an entertainment on Thanksgiving is hereby withdrawn. It was the intention to entertain but owing to the fact that a suitable hall could not be secured on that date, it has been postponed until some time in December. At any rate the postponement will doubtless bring good results for it gives the band ample time to arrange a good programme.

Massie & Co., Livermen, received a large load of baled straw last week, the first we have seen delivered under such pressure in this section. It would be better if all our farmers would bale their straw and hay and store it under shelter. The stock would do much better and the profits justify the expense.

Our Land, Stock and Crop Column covers the transactions in this section, so far as we are able to get them. If you make a sale or purchase, report it and help make a showing of the business done in this county. It is indirectly to your interest to do so.

Sound and Alright.

Mr. E. G. Atkins called attention, the other day, to the merits and good qualities of Mr. W. L. Walker's buggy horse that was hitched to the locust tree in front of the Columbia Bank. He said: "There is one of the best horses in this country and the only one that has twice been struck by lightning. The fact is lightning can not kill him. While I owned and drove him for six years he was true in every particular, and one day while in the horse lot lighting struck a tree and also the horse but he recovered alright. I sold him to Mr. Walker and when the lightning struck his barn and burned it, Old Dick was in his stall and was knocked to the ground. Mr. Walker arrived in time to get him out and for three months he was almost deaf. His hearing has returned and though 17 years old is as sound as a dollar and as trusty as ever looked through a collar. He is all right and no one knows or appreciates his real worth other than his owner."

Divide.

Before another issue of the News Thanksgiving feasting will be a thing of the past. Many will have fat turkey and all the good things they can possibly use, while many will be compelled to take rough every day fare. Would it not be well to remember some of the very poorest people in your community by sending them a small portion of good things that will load down that table of yours? Well, whether you do this or not, it is a day set apart by the President of the Nation and the head of the States to devote to giving praise to God for his mercies and good to our country and to every being. This does not mean that the church is the only place, though it is an appropriate one, but that all should render praise to Him from whom all blessings flow. It may be in one way, it may be in another, but it ought to be given. Remember the poor in their distress and you will be better off by so doing.

Insurance.

My time will be devoted to soliciting Life Insurance. I represent the Connecticut Mutual, one of the oldest and most reliable companies doing business. It is an annual dividend company and I already have many policy holders in Adair and adjoining counties. Its standing and dealings with its policy holders is fair and open and has never been held under suspicion. There is no better company, and protection, in the event of death, is something that no man should overlook. I will have a desk in the office of the Adair County News.

J. E. MURRELL.

Mr. J. J. Biggs is having a new barn built on his suburban property, and from general appearance it will be a good one. Two many neglect providing a good place for their stock in winter time and as a result see more feed and get less good, besides the stock suffers and the feed loses strength when left out in winter weather. Good barn material can be bought for a small amount and a large building erected for a very moderate sum and would be worth much to every farmer who keeps stock. Build a good barn if you have not already one that, will shelter all your stock and house your feed.

Massie & Robertson will pay $2.00 for good corn, shucked.

Bright days and cool frosty nights, ideal weather for butchering and many of the porkers have been salted down.

This is one of the years that no cholera or any other kind of disease with hogs has been reported from any part of this county.

The meetings at Mt. Gilead, conducted by the Rev. Madox, of Greensburg, is being well attended and the outlook indicates a great revival.

WANTED.—100 barrels of good merchantable corn. Must be shucked and sound. Will pay $2.00 per barrel.

Massie & Robertson.

Cockley & Simms Bros., of Campbellsburg, will put in a new improved Mattock plant. They are now able to cut stone from the rough, any size or shape that may be called for.

The trial of Dr. Oscar Keene, at Burksville, for complicity in the murder of James Skinner, was continued until next court and he was given bail under a $3000 bond.

Insure at The Farmers Home Insurance Company, of Junction City, Ky. The only company in the State that makes any claim of paying their losses in full.

S. I. BLAIR, Agt.

H. C. Bottoms returned from Danville last week, after disposing of a good bunch of cattle on that market. According to his statement, the only thing that prevented a loss was the free turnpikes in Casey county.

The Dime social, given by the Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church, at the residence of Dr. W. R. Grissom, last Friday evening, was well patronized. The entertainment was highly satisfactory to the participants and the receipts were pleasing to the Society.

For Sale.

A neat cottage on over 1/2 an acre lot, plenty of good water, and good barn and out buildings. Well located, near Columbia Roller Mill.

G. W. GARRISON, Columbia, Ky.

Mr. W. F. Jeffries, our hardware man, took to his farm last Thursday for the purpose of baling his hay, but strange to say, he exhausted his inclination for that kind of work in one day, although he claims that the rain, only a slight shower, drove him back to the loved ones in Columbia.

Four car loads of Adair county mules left Monday for the Southern market and others will leave later on. This is a good showing in the wind-up of the year. It would be safe to say that Adair county has furnished 12 car loads of the long eared animals in 1905 and at an average price of $125.00 would leave $45,000.00 with the farmers of Adair.

Built—Hurt.

Last Sunday at 2 p. m., at the residence of the bride's mother, Miss Zora Hurt and Mr. Jake Baugh, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, in the presence of the family and a few invited friends. The young lady is a daughter of Mrs. Lizzie Hurt and is industrious and highly respected and enjoys the good will of a large number of friends. The groom is a prosperous farmer of the Cane Valley section and a gentleman highly esteemed. The News joins their many friends in wishing them a long and happy life.

There is not a town in the State whose police force gives as little trouble as Columbia. Every thing goes smoothly here under the direction of Captain of the guard, Wm. Myers.

Mr. J. J. Biggs is having a new barn erected. It is rather on the large scale, for a city farmer, but when completed, it will be seen that it is not too large. Why it is that so many people will winter stock in little old rickety barns, with no convenience to themselves or comfort or protection to stock, is hard to understand. Barn lumber is cheap and most any one could build and not be worsted financially.

Mr. R. M. Cheek, of Burksville, has sold his possessions in that place and will remove to Nashville, Tenn., having purchased a large farm near the city. Mr. Cheek is one of the best citizens of Cumberland county and has a most excellent wife and charming daughter. They will be greatly missed from Burksville and Cumberland county and we best wishes of the citizenship go with them.

Last Thursday night thieves entered the cellar of Mrs. A. Eubank and took about 40 or 50 cans of fruit, jelly and preserves. This is the first theft reported in this town for, at least a year, and it is safe to say that more will follow unless the lock and key is used on all goods inviting to thieves. What a good thing it would be if some one had well-trained bloodhounds to trail them up.

Mr. J. S. Stapp is one of the busy men in this section and while he has been, and is today, a successful business man, yet he has acquired his holdings by strict business methods and constant, intelligent action. In conversation with him last week, he informed us that he had over 300,000 staves on his yard in Columbia, and nearly that many in the woods which are being delivered as rapidly as possible to the place of shipping here. Mr. Stapp has made good money in the stove and lumber business and has been of much worth to the people of his section. We like to see success come to every enterprising man whether in public or private life.

In conversation with one of the newly elected members of the town council, a few days ago, he presented an outline of what he would favor in bettering public conditions in this rapidly growing little city, and to be plain, his position is progressive—a leading one on lines that will bring permanent improvement. He said: "I recognize the fact that the sidewalk question is a proposition with which our board can hardly shine, and as a member of the board, I shall favor a departure from old methods. I know that in many places walks will be hard to make and will entail rather heavy expense," but the growth of Columbia and the brightness of her future, in my judgment warrants the building of substantial walks. I shall favor this proposition. As brick is expensive as well as hard to procure, and as gravel is scarce also, I believe that the best in sight is a rock crusher. Whether or not the council will agree to buy a crusher or whether the county would join the town in the purchase of a crusher, I am not authorized to say, but to my mind this is the move we should make and after the work has been done, it would be heartily endorsed by the people." The above interview shows the way the work is being, so to speak, and if this council fails to inaugurate progressive methods, build as well as repair, it will prove a serious mistake. We believe that a brighter day is dawning.

There is no proposition of greater interest to the public in this section than the making and maintaining of better roads. There is no public necessity so badly needed, and yet in spite of the existing conditions of our roads and the ability of Adair county to change them, we plod along over rough places in the summer season and take the mud through winter. There is nothing lacking except will power and a determination to make good roads. Economy is too often expensive and such is the case in this county on this proposition. In all the world there never was a people who failed to endorse good roads. We trust that the fiscal court will not overlook the importance of this proposition at its next meeting. Gentlemen, you are the directors of this county. You can prove benefactors or dead weights. You can start a work that will perpetuate your name as progressive officials and result in giving this county as good roads as can be built. It takes money and nerve. The people of the county have the money and you must furnish the other ingredient. Make a liberal levy for roads, buy a crusher and start business as early as possible. The people will join you in this move as certain as rain falls. A few well equipped, some will criticize but many will endorse you, but regardless of the little wave of disapproval from the rigidly economical few, start the work and help make this county what it ought to be. You can start the work that will lead to the greatest good to the country people or you can keep the old order of things. The time is here for action and it is your opportunity.

Horse Sense.

In conversation with J. R. Sanders, of Campbellsburg, last Wednesday, the subject of trusty horses came up and in speaking of the good traits of the equine, Mr. Sanders spoke of the confidence he has in his buggy horse and as proof of his trusty traits stated: "The Municipal campaign in Campbellsburg was a warm one, and as my brother was a candidate for Mayor, naturally I took considerable interest and was out to see some of the voters after dark as well as in the broad daylight. One night I drove across town a distance of a mile from home, left my horse and went in to see a voter. After staying 30 to 40 minutes I came out but found my horse and buggy gone. I started home and within a short distance met him coming back. He had tired standing, went home but found the gate closed and then returned for me. I have owned him for quite awhile and never think of tying him when I want to stop at any place, so it was my confidence in him that gave him the liberty to go home while I was engaged too long for his patience and it was his good sense of discretion to return for me after finding the gate closed. There is not many such animals.

For Sale.

One 15-horse power Gasoline Engine, in good running order. Come and see it run and get my price and terms.
L. C. MCKINLEY, Russell Springs, Ky.

In another column will be found the card of Dr. O. S. Dumbur. Read it.

J. E. Burton and brother, left Monday for Atlanta, Ga., with a car load of mules.

Coffey Bros., and Young pulled out for South-western Ga., last Monday, with two car loads of mules.

Several interesting letters were received too late last week for publication and some of them are not timely for this issue.

Mr. G. W. Gowdy is erecting a large brick business house with stone front, on Main Street, Campbellsburg. This location is just opposite J. T. Gowdy's livery stable.

Dr. O. S. Dumbur has rented the two front rooms in the Jeffries building, the ones heretofore occupied by Dr. J. G. Staples, and will remove to this location the first of December.

Miss Mary, daughter of Mr. James Bryant, died of droupy at her home on Pettis Fork, last Wednesday. She was 28 years of age. The body was buried in the graveyard at Milltown, Thursday.

Notice.

Four monuments that sold at $75 can now be bought at $50; four that sold for $25 now $20, one that sold at $80 now $65. When these are closed out no more can be had at these prices.

COCKLEY & SIMMS BROS.

Thrifty Farmers.

J. C. Henson & Co., of Dulworth, this county, are feeding 20 head of yearling mules, a span of two year olds and 4 weanlings. The bunch is reported as doing fine, growing fast and keeping good flesh. This farm will take the grass in 1906.

To Whom It May Concern.

Some one keeps circulating the statement that those who insure in the Farmers Home have to pay every time the company has a fire loss. This statement, whoever by, is a falsehood. The Company never has, nor never can make but two calls a year, January and July.

A. N. WELLS, Gen. Mgr.

Mr. J. T. Gowdy bought from the Hubard's estate the entire square on which his livery stable is located, for $5000.00. There is a splendid brick dwelling on the lot as well as the livery and the entire property is well located. Mr. Gowdy will continue to furnish rigs with good teams from the same old stand as well known and conveniently located for the people in Campbellsburg.

Celebrated.

Mr. A. D. Coy was 49 years old last Wednesday, the 22nd, and that birthday was celebrated in a most acceptable manner to him—feasting and making merry with friends. His good wife thought it fitting to give him a birthday dinner and to have a few friends present to enjoy the occasion. Those present were: Mrs. Meals, of Lebanon, Misses Vivian and Rena Coy, of Louisville, Mr. W. R. McFarland and family, Misses Julia and Annie Eubank, of Columbia and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Frazer, of Eunice. The occasion was highly enjoyable to all present who participated in the many good edibles that loaded the table and in social conversation befitting the occasion.

An Ideal Ride.

Upon a dark and dismal night
I so well remember,
Shrill songsters trilled their dreary lays,
For 'twas sad September.
Naught save an awe inspiring gloom
Was anywhere in sight,
To change my melancholy mood,
Or light the cheerless night.
While whispering Autumn breezes Seemed
Some evil to forebode,
Along a winding pathway dim,
In solitude I rode.
My friend, Rawhead and Bloodybones,
Was present as of old,
The same old gentle grinning ghost
Of which black mamas told.
Some folks who ride about at night
Are mentally prepared
To meet with hosts of ugly ghosts,
For they are never scared.
I neared a lonely graveyard next,
O'ergrown with bush and sedge, Where Goliath seemed to gather in Communion near the hedge.
Prepared to make a bold advance,
And crowd along my path:
Some making lamentations wild,
While others seemed to laugh.
A feeble minded fellow might Have felt his courage fade,
I whistled "Yankee Doodle," and
Of course was not afraid.
Was a huge monster, at my track,
Of fearful form and face
Going to fondle me soon
Within his fold embrace.
My horse became affrighted then,
As horses oft will,
And ran away, at breakneck speed,
Right down a rocky hill.
We are not superstitious though
As fearless folks all say,
But now when riding out at night,
We go another way.

Poultry Notes.

Leaky roofs of poultry houses result in sick birds later on.

A prolific cause of the fowls getting crop bound is lack of gravel or gritty material.

If sheaves of grain are hung in the poultry yard the hens will turn them to good account.

Leaves make excellent litter for the poultry house floor and cost nothing but the labor of gathering and storing.

Clean out the poultry house thoroughly and whitewash every part of it, and put a layer of dry soil on the floor.

The comb is a good index to the condition of the hen. If it shows up good and red the laying is not far off.

Even the turkeys and guineas, as well as all other classes of poultry, will be better for a good shelter during the winter.

The fowls should be fed meat in some form to take the place of worms, bugs and grasshoppers that they can't get these days.

Now is the time to mate the geese for next year's flocks and if purchases must be made get the males and females from different localities.

Onions make an excellent tonic for the hens and should be given them for an evening feed occasionally, but not frequently enough to affect the flavor of the eggs.

A good dust bath does a whole lot towards preventing an accumulation of vermin on the fowls' bodies. If you have failed to provide this in time a box of fine coal ashes may be used as a substitute.

GAINSVILLE, ARK.

"Hello Gainsville." This is Gainsville, Arkansas. I see that you (Wm. W.) are very well pleased with the way "Old Adair" voted in the last election. Well, I feel sorry for you—not that the election has gone wrong but that you are on the wrong side and should change over. Guess we had better ring off of this subject or the Editor might "kick."

Say, Mr. Editor, most all the people, in Adair county, of whom you speak, are strangers to me, but then it has now been twenty-five years, since we were there, which doubtless has changed things mightily, however we enjoy reading the News which has just been received.

Billy, if you will hurry up and get that long-looked-for railroad to Columbia, we might come home, but as long as there is a chance to walk part of the way, we will be slow to start.

Well Arkansas is a fine place to live, if it is Democratic. William if you were a citizen of Arkansas, you would already be "Johnnie on the spot," whether the shop had any good things or not.

With the very best of wishes for all the Adair county people, I will say good-bye.

Yours truly,
J. H. TURK.

When you start a fire in the

WILSON WOOD HEATER

there is no occasion to remove a quantity of heavy ashes. The Hot Blast Down-Draft consumes every particle of burnable material in the wood so that when the fire has burned out only a very small quantity of fine particles remains in the stove to represent the impurities in the fuel, which would not ignite. A piece of paper—a few chips and a stick of wood will enable you to have a roaring fire in ten minutes, which fire may be maintained for 36 hours. Owing to the scientific construction, the Down-Draft burns all the fuel, the Wilson saves one-half your fuel bill.

A Poem.

Why do Republicans envy the South,
And by high tariff from it steal?
Why do they seek to enrich the North,
With the products of the Southern field?

Why no they seek to defame the South,
Wherein the nation's honor lies;
Why do they publish this and that,
When they know good and well they are liars?

What could they do that they have not done?

I must pause here for an answer,
For they robbed and robbed by the carpet bag,
And now they are trying to steal on faster.

They are trying to bring the sunny South
Into great humiliation;
And now they look us right in the face
and say,

You must recognize the negro as your equal.

Or we'll cut your representation.
But this they know they dare not do,
I speak it without hesitation,
They are only trying to scare the South.

Into negro equalization.
They said that Crum at Charleston port

Must collect the custom,
But why, I will ask, didn't they take him up North.

To New York City or Boston.

"Christ With Us," a poem by Edwin Markham, with appropriate decorations fills the first page of the WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION for December, and the remainder of the magazine is very Christmasy indeed. Christmas fiction is represented by "An Ogre's Tenants," by Owen Oliver; "The Burglar's Christmas Gift," by Clara Morris; The Quest of the Unwise Men," by Temple Bailey;
"A Borrowed Christmas," by Mary Wilhelmina Hastings; "The Man Who Gained the World," by Alfred Tressider Shepherd and other timely stories Mrs. Russell Sage contributes an essay on "What's the Matter with Christmas?"; Rex Bennett tells how John D.
Rockefeller celebrates the day; and two articles elaborately illustrated with photographs tell "How Royalty celebrates Christmas," and useful articles on handmade gifts, leather tooling, Christmas cookery and Christmas tables give the number additional holiday value. Published by the Crowell Publish-

Terrified.

You may well be terrified, when you first suspect that you are a victim of chronic dyspepsia, liver or bowel trouble. These diseases always go from bad to worse, unless checked in time by the only safe and sure laxative medicine for dyspepsia that you can get, Dr.
Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Sold by Dr. J. N. Page, of Columbia, and R. B.
Wilson, of Cane Valley, at 50c and $1.00. Money back if it fails.

EDUCATIONAL.*STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS.

"It is not the will of your Father which is in Heaven that one of these little ones should perish. I came that ye might have life and have it more abundantly."
—Jesus.

"There is a glory greater than the glory of wealth and power and arms and conquest—the glory of loving, getting, cherishing, diffusing and perpetuating knowledge, whereby men may adorn their lot in this life, whatever that lot may be; and whereby as far as knowledge can, they may be led to know a better life to come."—Robt. J. Breckenridge, in 1853.

"The public free schools are Colleges of the people; they are the nurseries of freedom; their establishment and efficiency are the paramount duty of a republic.
The education of the children is the most legitimate object of taxation."—Dr. J. L. M. Curry.

"The power of the state, the interests of civilization, and the perpetuity of our institutions alike call upon the Legislature to devise a system which will meet the wants of the rising generation."—State Supt. R. T. Dillard, in 1847.

In order to preserve our civilization, its history and its traditions, must we not make the schools of all the people efficient?

But the schools will be no better, unless we begin their reformation with the teacher. The teacher is the real center of all education. Among the educational problems, therefore, which must be solved before our schools become efficient, the teacher problem is perhaps the most vital.
He must be trained to teach, and he must be paid for his services, not starved and ostracized.

Henry Bernard, in a speech before the Legislature of Connecticut in 1837, said:

"It is idle to expect good schools until we have good teachers; and the people will rest satisfied with such teachers as they have, until their attention is directed to the subject, and until we can demonstrate the necessity of employing better teachers and show they can be made better by proper training in classes or Seminars established for this specific purpose."

There is but one way practicable to attain the end of popular education, and that is the education of teachers adapted to the wants of our schools. This reform is fundamental to every other in the cause of education.

For want of it, all the endowments of the state, and all the endowments of benevolence in behalf of education, however extensive, will languish and fail:
for it is only at last through good teachers that good teaching can be had, and without good teaching, no system of education can be effectual."—Prof. Edward S.
Joynes, William and Mary College.

In an article in the Southern School Journal for November, 1905, Judge W. M. Beckner, of Winchester, said:

"In the new education, which we may fairly call American, the chief factor is the TEACHER.
Text-books are very well,
but they are of secondary consideration. Does anybody know or care what books, if any, were used by Socrates, Plato, Aristotle, Comenius, Pestalozzi, Froebel or Parker? Their pupils were sheep whom the shepherds not only fed, but led into green pastures, where they could feed themselves. The old system of memorization is passing away with the rod, by which it was stimulated. Under the new methods, initiative and not imitation, is the keynote.
The old way was easier because it was mechanical. Its results were much like the music of the organ grinder. The instrument on which the modern teacher must know how to play, is the harp of a thousand strings, found in the nature of every child committed to his care. How can he successfully do this without adequate training, and where can this be had save in a properly arranged and equipped Normal School?"

It seems that almost every educated intelligent citizen in the state agrees that Kentucky not only needs, but must have Professional Training Schools for her teachers; but the surprising part of it all is, that there are yet even a few presumably intelligent folk in the state who think we should not be hasty;
that we should take plenty of time to debate the matter before jumping headlong into this "new fad." This idea of a "new fad" is amusing in the extreme. Let us examine a little into history and see how new the proposition really is. The first State Normal School was established in 1839 at Lexington, Mass.—36 years ago. Since that time every state in the Union has established such institutions except Kentucky and one other. Kentucky was the second State admitted into the Union, being admitted in 1792—113 years ago. In 1857 Dr. Robt.
J. Breckenridge, Supt. of Public Instruction said:

"The people of the state will prefer good teachers to indifferent ones, and, if the state prefers that these good teachers should be strangers and foreigners, rather than her own sons, she has only to refuse all provisions for training at home, and the result is secured."

For 18 years the Kentucky Educational Association has been battling away on this proposition. They have resolved and resolved in favor of the "Professional Training of Teachers," but for want of funds with which to properly present their claims before the General Assembly, their efforts have died away with the adjournment of the meeting.
The Educational Improvement Commission came into existence last June, and at once became a fighting organization by securing money with which to lay the cause at the feet of the people for their consideration. There is no doubt but that the Legislature will do the will of the people if it knows it. It, then, behooves the people to instruct the Legislature as to their wishes.

The colored people long ago went before the Legislature and asked for a State Normal School.
It was granted, and today they enjoy the privilege of a first-class, well equipped State Normal School at Frankfort. Graduates from this institution are granted State Life Diplomas without Examination. Every Kentuckian ought to be proud of this institution; but, if it be not considered too sudden an innovation, after these 48 years since the question was first agitated in Kentucky by State Supt. Robert J. Breckenridge, might we not venture to ask that the white people, which comprise about 86 per cent. of the population of the state, be granted as good schools in proportion for the training of white teachers?

Think over this matter carefully; and, if you believe the time is ripe, tell your Representative and Senator where you stand.
They want to do your will. If you think it too early, then let's wait another CENTURY (?)

Kuykendall suitably adapted to this people. He believes in the old time religion and the old fashion way of seeking it. The people in this community are highly pleased with him.

John D. Lowe, the well-known shoe man, of Columbia, in company with his wife and daughter, passed through here Thursday en route for Gainesboro, Tenn., where they had been called to the bed-side of Mr. Lowe's sick mother.

Died on the 25th, at his home near Pickett, Dr. W. W. Bingham, in his 69th year. Brother Bingham was a Christian of the truest sense, having been a member of the Methodist church for over fifty years. Each day of his life he lived up to what he professed and when the summons came he was ready and waiting. He will not only be missed in the family circle but in the church and community where he lived.

For many years he has been the leading physician of all that country. Dr. Bingham is no more, but from the life he lived we are sure his work will go on. The funeral was preached by Rev. G. Y. Wilson before a large audience of friends and relatives and the remains interred in the Pickett Chapel cemetery by the masonic fraternity. He leaves a devoted wife and several loving children with the community at large, to sympathize with them in this their hour of distress.

Mr. Bob Mitchell, of Sulphur Well passed through here last Thursday, with two of the best yearling mules that we have noticed in this town for many years, they were purchased from Chas. Yarberry, of Sparksville, for $280. He also bought Mr. Yarberry's coon dog for $10. Coons are plentiful in the Sulphur Well Section.

BLISS.

Public sales of property are getting numerous in this part.

Mr. Tyman Atkins sold a lot of corn in the crib, at the sale last Saturday, to Mr. J. A. Diddle, at $1.90 per barrel. Mr. Atkins will leave very soon for Pensacola, Florida, at which place he has a position in view. Success to you Twyman.

Mr. Robert Williams, who has been staying with Mr. C. M. Heriford in his store for several weeks past, went to his home at Eunice last Friday.

Mr. John Troutman, who has been confined to his room for a month, nursing his injured foot which was accidentally shot, is able to stir.

Mrs. J. K. Robertson and her daughter, Miss Lilian, of Columbia, visited her sister, Mrs. R. E. Tandy, last Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Heriford has had his store house covered with steel roofing which is certainly a great improvement to the property as well as the goods. Messrs. Ivan Patterson and Roy Stotts, two of our young men, did the job.

Some of our people had gotten the date of Thanksgiving day so confused that they actually observed it this week. They may observe it again next week. We have had a most prosperous year for which we should be exceedingly thankful.

Mrs. Lizzie Pennington was on the sick list but is now better.

Saturday was an ideal day that brought a good crowd of people to the auction sale of Mr. M. J. Murrell. Things sold readily at rather low prices. Three heifers brought $31, one cow, $20.55, one cow, $13; hay stacks, $10.50 to $11 per stack. Mr. Lucien Hurt did the crying and a veteran he was at the business.

Hog slaughtering will soon be the order of the day, as the result, plenty of appetizing ribs, backbones etc., will be much in evidence.

There has been an exceedingly favorable spell of weather for cribbing the corn crops. Farmers in general have been rushing themselves early and late, some are just through and are now all happiness.

Mr. Harry Staples, of your city, was mixing with friends here last Saturday and Sunday.

The sale at the late W. J. Atkins place, failed to bring the price asked for the farm, consequently it was rented to Mr. Fred Troutman, son of Mrs. Mollie Troutman. Mr. Troutman, who has been in North Dakota for the last three years, will be home at an early date. He and his mother will move to the place as soon as possible.

Misses Mabel and Nell Hindman, of Gradyville, visited Miss Bessie Letfwitch Monday night.

Misses Ann and Dollie Dohoney visited Mrs. R. L. Caldwell, of Gradyville, Thursday night.
